

2017 Raisbeck Aviation High School Environmental Challenge

Seattle – Tacoma International Airport

Steve Rybolt

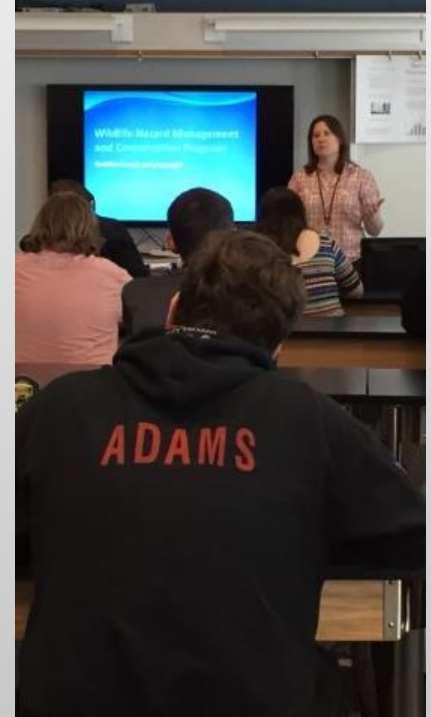

Troy Hoehne

Airports & the Environment Curriculum

- Developed for Highline School District's Raisbeck Aviation High School
- Project-based learning and educational program to foster knowledge of aviation and environmental careers
- Students solve a "true-to-life" environmental challenge at Sea-Tac Airport
- Solutions are judged by aviation and environmental professionals and local community leaders
- Winners receive a customized day at the airport and a commemorative plaque

Program Supports Community Outreach and Education

2017 Environmental Challenge Problem

2017 Environmental Challenge: Identifying Uses for Vacant Port Property

2017 Environmental Challenge Winners

- Payton Adams
- Charleisha Cox
- Matthew Morin
- Brian Phuong

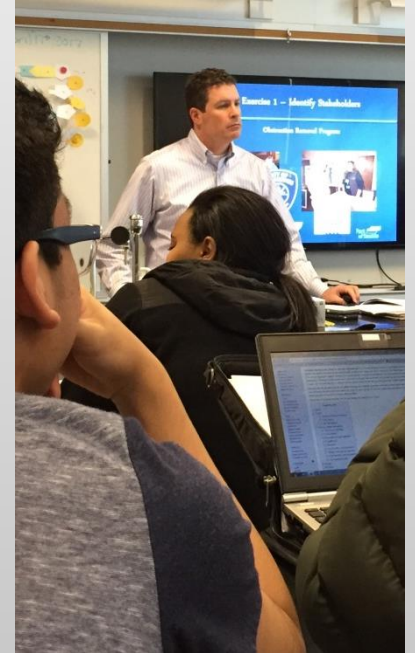

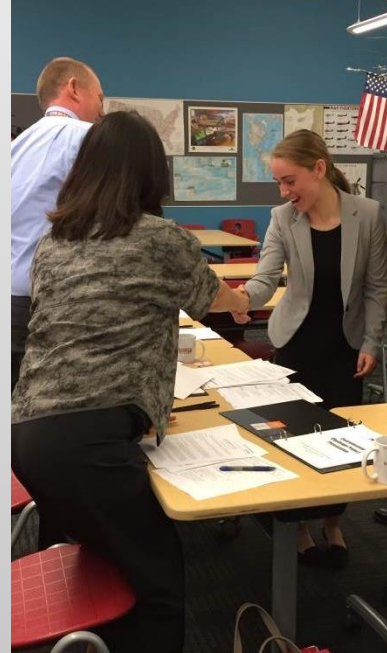

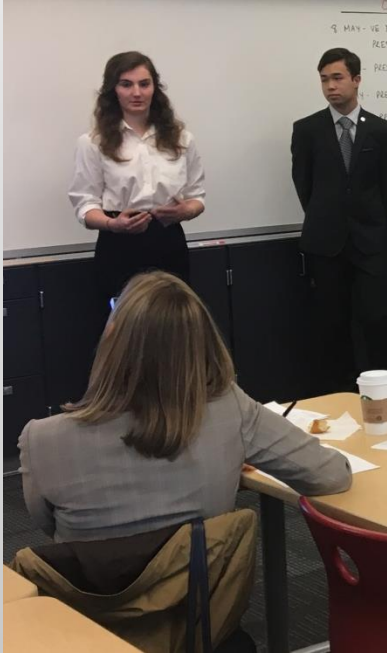

Winning Team “Evergreen Consulting”

Environmental Challenge Summary

- Supports Century Agenda's workforce development objective and Airport's Environmental Strategies
- Encourages student interest in aviation and environmental careers
- Has engaged over 1000 students since program's inception in 2008
- Awarded 2014 Airports Council International Award for Excellence in Airport Marketing and Communication - Aviation Education

Program Promotes and Prepares Students for Aviation and Environmental Careers

Partnership with Raisbeck Aviation High School

Tenth Year of Partnership