Dear Washington State Elected Officials,

There is a 2018 budget proviso currently proposed by Representatives Mike Pellicciotti and Tina Orwall for an Airport Impact Study, I ask you all to support it.

Sea-Tac International Airport has been the fastest growing airport in the United States for several years and the 6th fastest growing airport in the world. Add Sea-Tac's major expansion plan and the removal of thousands of trees either for "safety" or the Port's own property development, trees that were in fact planted under the FAA's own 1978 "Airport Landscaping for Noise Control". A program which was cancelled by the FAA without reason and more importantly without consideration to the impacts on the surrounding communities, but cancelled nonetheless by the FAA in 2010.

More than 21 years have passed since the last airport impact mitigation study was completed and the airport has more than doubled in traffic since. Yet, an aggressive Century Plan has been released, one that outlines a growth at Sea-Tac International Airport with passenger capacity at 66 million and cargo expansion at approximately 750,000 cubic metric tons. Did you know that this is more passenger traffic than

SIGN PETITION

International Airport is on only 2,500 acres, yet the Port of Seattle has plans to grow at an unimaginable rate, an amount of air traffic that undoubtedly will pressurize the communities below in both noise and health impacts.

It is simply illogical to think an airport the size of Sea-Tac at 2,500 acres with 3 runways can accomplish the same amount of air traffic as Dallas Fort Worth with 7 runways and over 17,000 acres. How can this growth plan even be considered without a full impact mitigation study?

As a voter, resident, and community member impacted daily by the airport, I ask that you strongly support Representative Pellicciotti and Representative Orwall's Airport Impact Study budget proviso. It is simply the correct measure for each and everyone of you to stand behind.

A link to a draft of the proviso language can be found here:

<https://www.scribd.com/document/370023126/2018-Airport-Study-Budget-Proviso>

This study must be conducted in partnership with the State of Washington and surrounding airport cities, with absolutely no financial support from the Port of Seattle.

A track record of action is an honorable legacy, please do not let this impact study fall through the cracks on your watch. We the surrounding communities need this, our children deserve this.

Thank you.

I have lived in Des Moines now for a little over a two years. The airplane noise was nothing like it is today, it is constantly noisy, 24/7. It used to be busy for maybe three hours or so, now I hear airplanes all night long. Why can't another airport location be considered for the Seattle area? We live our lives under the increased noise and there are plans to increase air traffic considerably. Is it all about money and the taxes it generates or do you care at all about the citizens you work for?

Public health, especially for those who grew up under the flight paths... and or those now living there should be your #1 concern... and money should be budgeted specifically to STUDY and utilize ALL information, MUCH OF WHICH IS ALREADY AVAILABLE on this subject and should be studied IN DETAIL ASAP. See flight pattern kids@sea tac, flight pattern kids@santa monica, ETC. Perhaps there is ALREADY DIRECT CAUSE AND EFFECT SHOWING DAMAGE HARM AND PERMANENT

Noise abatement has been in affect since 1972 developed during the days of B707s, B727, DC10s, L1011s, all which were much noisier aircraft. Modern aircraft are much quieter and climb better. 5 DME south of the airport at or above 3000ft is still a requirement unless weather such as thunderstorms, lightning or turbulence becomes a factor.

feel like they need to address the health and noise issues before they go spending millions of dollars to continue making us all sick for their monetary gain, and it's not like anybody benefits from it but the city while the residence just get to pay higher taxes, and the unfair part about all of it is we don't even get a chance to be heard or even vote on it.

They have their secret squirrel meetings and then just spring it on us what the plans are for our future, and I for one don't approve it, we just don't have the room for it and no place to expand to unless they rake more people's homes from them, the whole thing just makes me mad knowing what I do about the health issues it's causing and the death all around me and instead of fixing the big issues they want to make it bigger, you can word it whatever way you want to because I could go on and on, but I will stop here, the bottom line is they need to involve the people in what's happening in city and they need to do it the environmental issues before they spend millions to make more people sick!

Thank you for listening

Clearly SeaTac is not as large as other airports handling such growth, noise, and environmental impacts. With earlier expansions, impact studies designated specific areas of noise impacts. These parts of the community were able to purchase and install noise reduction packages free and/or at a reduced cost. Many of the airport package triple pane windows, are leaking, stick to the point they are unable to open. The Port has not acknowledged complaints. Are these issues going to be addressed?

Sea-Tac's growth is untenable. Yes the economic growth is great, but people live here. There's no reason why the Port can't partner with Paine field with shuttles running between the 2 airports to help alleviate the growing pains.

Two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time. Likewise, human beings do not thrive while living inside a jet engine. Yet, that is what is happening to those of us who live near Sea-Tac airport. When I moved into my house in 2014, airplane noise was a minor inconvenience, akin to occasional visits by Harley owners. Now, I have a whole fleet of Harleys roaring around my house 19 hours or more per day. It wakes me

Please support the budget proviso proposed by Representatives Mike Pellicciotti and Tina Orwall which calls for an Airport Impact Study.

It has been over twenty years since the last airport impact study was done. Sea Tac Airport is currently the fastest growing airport in the United States. According to the Century Plan, Sea Tac Airport is planning to add more passenger traffic than Dallas Fort Worth has, yet The Dallas Fort Worth airport has seven runways (compared to our three) and has over 17,000 acres (compared to our 2,500 acres).

This astounding and dangerous growth rate in such a small space will increase the already unbearable noise and health impacts on the communities beneath the flight paths. How can such a massive growth rate even be considered without a full impact mitigation study? This study must be done by Washington State and the surrounding airport cities with no connection to and zero funding or any financial support from the Port of Seattle.

As a community member, voter and community advocate I urge you to support Representative Pellicciotti and Representative Orwall's Airport Impact Study budget proviso. You have the lives of thousands of children in your hands. I ask you to do the right thing.

Thank you,

Dr. Wendy Ghiora

The City of SeaTac

2018 Supplemental Operating Budget Proviso Request: Airport Impact Study

More than 20 years have passed since the last airport study was completed

As the host to Washington State's largest international airport, the City of SeaTac is proud to welcome the many travelers entering and leaving our state. As the SeaTac International Airport expands, SeaTac International Airport surrounding communities request funding to continue to be a strong, welcoming community.

Twenty years ago, when the third runway was in its planning stages, the State conducted the Sea-Tac International Airport Impact Mitigation Study, which found that "costs associated with these [airport] improvements are disproportionately borne by those communities immediately surrounding the airport."

The purpose of the study is to establish a point-in-time baseline of both positive and negative community and economic impacts and provide objective data to communicate this information to the residents of the cities and other interested parties

Please support the budget proviso proposed by Representatives Mike Pellicciotti and Tina Orwall which calls for an Airport Impact Study.

It has been over twenty years since the last airport impact study was done. Sea Tac Airport is currently the fastest growing airport in the United States. According to the Century Plan, Sea Tac Airport is planning to add more passenger traffic than Dallas Fort Worth has, yet The Dallas Fort Worth airport has seven runways (compared to our three) and has over 17,000 acres (compared to our 2,500 acres).

This astounding and dangerous growth rate in such a small space will increase the already unbearable noise and health impacts on the communities beneath the flight paths. How can such a massive growth rate even be considered without a full impact mitigation study? This study must be done by Washington State and the surrounding airport cities with no connection to and zero funding or any financial support from the Port of Seattle.

As a community member, voter and community advocate I urge you to support Representative Pellicciotti and Representative Orwall's Airport Impact Study budget proviso. You have the lives of thousands of children in your hands. I ask you to do the right thing.

Thank you,

Dr. Wendy Ghiora

The Port's 3rd Runway EIS made unrealistic assumptions that allowed them to not provide mitigation when that runway was built. The impact study should show that the Port's EIS was a sham document and dramatic mitigation was required.

Sea-Tac International Airport has been the fastest growing airport in the United States for several years and the 6th fastest growing airport in the world. Add Sea-Tac's major expansion plan and the removal of thousands of trees either for "safety" or the Port's own property development, trees that were in fact planted under the FAA's own 1978 "Airport Landscaping for Noise Control". A program which was cancelled by the FAA without reason and more importantly without consideration to the impacts on the surrounding communities, but cancelled nonetheless by the FAA in 2010.

The City of SeaTac

2018 Supplemental Operating Budget Proviso Request: Airport Impact Study

More than 20 years have passed since the last airport study was completed

As the host to Washington State's largest international airport, the City of SeaTac is proud to welcome the many travelers entering and leaving our state. As the SeaTac International Airport expands, SeaTac International Airport surrounding communities request funding to continue to be a strong, welcoming community.

Twenty years ago, when the third runway was in its planning stages, the State conducted the Sea-Tac International Airport Impact Mitigation Study, which found that "costs associated with these [airport] improvements are disproportionately borne by those communities immediately surrounding the airport."

The purpose of the study is to establish a point-in-time baseline of both positive and negative community and economic impacts and provide objective data to communicate this information to the residents of the cities and other interested parties
Now is the time for an update to the study

The Sea-Tac International Airport is the 6th fastest growing airport in the world.

It's the 9th busiest airport in the United States (2014).

Passenger levels increased approximately 13% from 2014.

The irresponsible abuse of our airspace above us without any regard for those that live directly under the highly concentrated FAA NextGen air routes purely for airline and PoS profit ($22B regional impact 2017 alone) is enough to make me want to throw up. The current southern departure for Asian routes that turn west and then out over the Des Moines, Federal Way, Dash Point, Brown's Point and NE Tacoma at unnecessarily low altitude while maneuvering is a hazard; if you view this route on a map you'll see it isn't possible to actually overfly any more inhabitants than this situation. Simply flying a few miles further south and higher altitude prior to turning would put all that traffic over industrial areas and not over human and wild life. Keep business over business and let the rest of us affected be able to live in reasonable peace!

Seatac airport's growth plan simply are undoable without serious impact to the surrounding community. I've lived at the north end for almost 20 years. We have more noise and vibration, certainly more dust. Despite POS protests to the opposite, the planes are coming in lower, creating more wake turbulence on the ground. And the POS does nothing to help the surrounding neighborhoods that bear the increased traffic and decreased quality of life.

Traffic since the 3rd runway, which by the way was to be not a full time runway, a big lie has air traffic running late into the night with 2 to 3 planes flying over the same time making it impossible to even hear one self think let alone hold a conversation. The noise has become more intolerable rather than annoying. I support this Impact Study and feel it is absolutely necessary. The soot from the plane traffic is very noticeable as well.

After being a frequent flyer in the US and to various places around the world for 40 years, I had to stop flying in 2008. I could no longer handle the physical and mental duress of what flying had become. Since 1997 the airport became a neighbor of mine when I purchased my condo. They were planning to build the 3rd runway then. So I have kept a very close watch on the airport and it's operating plan. And now it is having a negative impact on me right down to the "Black Soot", jet fuel emission that collects on my deck and deck furniture. This is just one of the many reasons why I support an Airport Impact Study.

It is absolutely criminal not to complete another airport mitigation study. In 2015 planes leaving SeaTac airport emitted 6 million tons of carbon dioxide, what a large coal burning power plant would emit. You wouldn't be able to expand a large coal burning power plant without filing an EIS and studying the impacts so why is the PoS able to get away with expanding their pollution footprint. This doesn't even count the increased noise pollution from SeaTac and the particulate emissions.

I have lived and worked in the Burien area for almost 14 years. In the last 1-2 years I have noticed a SIGNIFICANT increase in loud jet noise directly over my home. SeaTac airport has gotten too big for its britches and other options needs to be explored. As a long time resident and homeowner I have been directly impacted by the changes in flight path and altitude directly over my home near Celebration Park. It is impossible to enjoy an evening on our deck now due to jets buzzing over low enough that you can count the windows on the plane. Likewise the noise from the jet traffic starting early in the morning disrupts a good night sleep. Why do they need to approach so low this far from the airport? I also wonder about the air quality and whether it is safe to grow my own vegetables in our garden. I fully support an environmental impact study to get these questions answered and see a reasonable, mutually respectful solution to the growing air traffic.

Il moved to Normandy Park knowing it was by an airport. However, even in the few years we've been here, noise has increased exponentially. There are nights that the sound actually wakes us up. I am interested in solutions that foster growth, but also heavily take into consideration the noise and health of the surrounding communities.

We fought the third runway and it cost the citizens of Normandy Park 3-4 million dollars. This tract of land at the airport cannot sustain the kind of growth that is projected without hardship and decreased health to the citizens of the surrounding cities.

I'm deeply concerned about the increased air traffic day and night, noise and air pollution, planes flying lower, louder and more frequently. We moved to Des Moines 8 years ago planning to raise our kids and retire here, but its gotten to the point where not even the sound ordinance double windows and sliders can contain the sound, it's driving us crazy and we're ready to move.

This FAA plan is totally insane and cruel to the people who the FAA decides to fly 1900 ft and lower over their houses. There is no mitigation and buy outs for these people who are suffering from noise, sleep deprivation, cancer from the disease causing jet fuel emission fall out over their houses.

There is known scientific data about the life threatening impact airplane noise, emissions and vapors have on people's health. A study hasn't been done around SeaTac for over 20 years and since then SeaTac airport added the 3rd runway and increased the frequency of flights and reduced altitude of aircraft flight paths. Puget Sound needs this study done!
