Dear Port Commissioner,

As a Master of Public Health and climate justice activist, I urge you to halt the rollout of cruise ships. Not only are they a public health hazard, as we saw with the notorious Diamond Princess, they are harmful to every thing they encounter, from humans to animals to water and air. Making a "green port" is impossible due to the hazards of the cruise ships themselves, not to mention the transportation of passengers to and from the ports. It's time to prioritize health over profit.

Sincerely,

Anna Humphreys, MSW, MPH
