To the Commission:

As a native of Seattle, I am profoundly disturbed that the Port of Seattle encourages mega cruise ships in Puget Sound. Their waste and fuel pollute the air and water, their noise disturbs marine life—especially our endangered orca—and disrupts the ecosystem. Mega cruise ships frequently violate regulations, avoid paying taxes, and subject employees to poor working conditions and pay. The day visitors that they bring add little to the economy.

Please rescind your support for mega cruise ships, which damage or destroy much that is of value and add little.
