
This document is a text-only reovery of the original PDF file. Any graphics that were in the original PDF are not included here. If you need the original document, please contact the Commission Clerk at the Port of Seattle.

3/12/24, 3:52 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
Jill Anderson
Tue 3/12/2024 12:14 PM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).
Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.
North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.
KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.
This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]
<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>
3/12/24, 8:49 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
Ellen Arnstein
Tue 3/12/2024 7:43 AM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or a achments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).
Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.
North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

This is not just about the trees. King County Public Health has confirmed that people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. To offset this, the report recommends planting, protecting, and preserving trees near SeaTac.

This plan will be a detriment to the public health of residents in the area and will drastically reduce forest habitat. It must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,

Ellen Arnstein

https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO... 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/13/24, 2:47 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Jo Berliner

Tue 3/12/2024 7:16 PM

To: Cho, Sam ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Calkins, Ryan ; Commission-Public-Records ; Felleman, Fred
Cc: info@defendersofhighlineforest.org ; info@treeactionseattle.com

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

--

Jo Berliner

pronouns: he/they

https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO... 1/1

3/12/24, 8:53 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Ethan Bickel

Tue 3/12/2024 8:25 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTtk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:36 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Jessica Bookwalter

Mon 3/11/2024 11:03 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:46 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
sf.strain2@gmail.com
Tue 3/12/2024 5:55 AM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I FULLY support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).
Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.
North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.
KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.
This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.
I would like to add that I deeply care about the children living in the communities surrounding the park. They deserve to live in healthy spaces, with full access to their parks and as many trees surrounding them as possible. We have to stop choosing profits over protecting our children.
Thank you for your time,
Sadie Ciccia-Strain

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]
<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>
3/13/24, 2:47 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
Sharon Clarke
Tue 3/12/2024 8:58 PM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or a achments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
I cannot adequately express my horror that the Port of Seattle plans to once again rape the land it holds in trust. So I will just let you read this standard response. But please understand, this is very important to me, personally.
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTtk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:42 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Ashley Cohen-Lewe

Tue 3/12/2024 3:52 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Ashley Cohen-Lewe

Anything But Ordinary

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTtk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

[Link]

<mailto:starshipmal@gmail.com>

3/12/24, 8:54 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Mx. Malak Crisp

Tue 3/12/2024 8:27 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Malak Crisp (They/Them)

starshipmal@gmail.com

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:45 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Karen Crum

Tue 3/12/2024 4:39 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

I oppose the Land Stewardship Plan which will destroy and pave over irreplaceable forests and established natural ecosystems that protect already-polluted frontline communities.

I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially "develop" (=destroy) existing forests and to stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is unacceptable. To do this in a community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space is unacceptable.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): It is unacceptable to "develop" (=destroy) this forest and remove the 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County - irreplaceable as the last, and irreplaceable as itself, irreplaceable as an existing carbon sequestration resource - and as an important aquifer recharge resource for the region.

The Port's history of destroying wetlands is unsustainable, indefensible, and cannot continue.

KC Public Health confirmed that people in airport communities live shorter, less healthy lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The current plan will only exacerbate this. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac, not destroying more. I respectfully demand this plan be revised to protect these forests as the life-sustaining ecosystems they are, and to honestly account for their value to all the lives that depend on our remaining natural spaces. No more forest destruction.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:49 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

angelafischer02@gmail.com

Tue 3/12/2024 10:29 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-

Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

As someone born and raised in Seattle, I have a deep and abiding love for green spaces. My family are closely tied with North SeaTac park and are once again dismayed to see plans to decimate it. Please reconsider. Please let our community live and breathe. Please keep Seattle green.

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,

Angela Dahl

West Seattle

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:48 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Courtney Davis

Tue 3/12/2024 9:29 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-

Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you,

Courtney Davis

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:48 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Laura Davoli

Tue 3/12/2024 7:01 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:37 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Mar Dee

Mon 3/11/2024 11:09 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:35 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on draft Land Stewardship Plan

Jessica Dixon-Horton

Mon 3/11/2024 10:53 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.
Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:32 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
Jill Doran
Mon 3/11/2024 10:45 PM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
It is hard for me to understand, especially with everything that is known about climate change, that you wouldn't be doing everything in your power to preserve the city and county's quickly dwindling green space. How is this land stewardship? We are lucky to live somewhere so green and healthy and it is important to preserve it. Growth can happen while maintaining green space. Please do not approve this. Please stop destroying green space. It is deeply short sighted and frankly cruel.
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).
Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.
North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.
KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.
This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.
Sincerely,
Jill Doran
Seattle, WA
Sent from my mobile device; please excuse brevity and errors

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:47 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
Robin Dragovich
Tue 3/12/2024 6:59 AM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them. Save our trees! Preserve our forests, protect our communities.

Best,

Robin Dragovich

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 9:41 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Steven Durham

Tue 3/12/2024 9:30 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 3:53 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

alexa fortuna

Tue 3/12/2024 12:44 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you for your care,

Alexa Valett

Shoreline, WA

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 3:51 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Alice Frayne

Tue 3/12/2024 10:28 AM

To: Cho, Sam ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi

; Calkins, Ryan ; Commission-Public-Records ; Felleman, Fred

Cc: info@defendersofhighlineforest.org ; info@treeactionseattle.com

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space. North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed. KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac. This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,
Alice

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 3:00 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Jeppa Hall

Wed 3/13/2024 8:11 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:29 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Daniel Heath

Mon 3/11/2024 10:31 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

Please rethink this development.

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely Daniel Heath,

Seattle voter and resident

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTtk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<mailto:evelynh@archecology.com>

3/12/24, 9:42 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Evelyn Horan

Tue 3/12/2024 9:02 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

1 attachments (16 KB)

Outlook-In1fni1r;

WARNING: External email. Links or a achments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Evelyn Horan (She/Her)

Office Manager/Green Building Associate

Fitwel Ambassador

Direct : (206) 946-6306
Main : (206) 860-2904
Email: evelynh@archecology.com

901 Hiawatha Pl S, Unit 100
Seattle, WA 98144

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/2

[Link]

<http://www.archecology.com/>

[Link]

<https://www.linkedin.com/company/archecology>

[Link]

<https://www.linkedin.com/company/archecology>

[Link]

https://www.instagram.com/archecology_seattle/

[Link]

https://www.instagram.com/archecology_seattle/

[Link]

<https://www.facebook.com/ArchEcology>

[Link]

<https://www.facebook.com/ArchEcology>

3/12/24, 9:42 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

www.archecology.com

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 2/2

3/12/24, 9:42 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

janahouse@comcast.net

Tue 3/12/2024 9:37 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-
Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Jennifer Houston

206-637-0242

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:46 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Kellan Howes

Tue 3/12/2024 5:02 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-
Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:59 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

adrianna hulscher

Wed 3/13/2024 8:09 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Please protect our treasured natural areas! Once gone, they cannot be replaced.

Urgently,

Adrianna Hulscher

Seattle resident

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:46 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

lizzie hurd

Tue 3/12/2024 6:43 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Hurd

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 8:42 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Ren

Tue 3/12/2024 1:18 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Warmly,
Temple Loveli

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 3:54 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Cristin Mattione

Tue 3/12/2024 2:23 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The very last thing we need to be doing right now as humans is destroying forest habitat. Please set an example!

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Cristin Mattione (she/her)

"shame lives in should. swap guilt with grace. see what happens." - ALOK

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:49 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Olivia Moore

Tue 3/12/2024 10:43 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,
Olivia Moore

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 3:50 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Jenna Morris

Tue 3/12/2024 10:15 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially "develop" the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for "development" (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to "develop" this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you for listening,
Jenna Morris

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<https://go.microsoft.com/fwlink/?LinkId=550986>

3/13/24, 2:47 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Karen Muller

Tue 3/12/2024 5:24 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from Mail for Windows

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/13/24, 2:58 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Marissa

Wed 3/13/2024 7:13 AM

To: Cho, Sam ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Calkins, Ryan ; Commission-Public-Records ; Felleman, Fred
Cc: info@defendersofhighlineforest.org ; info@treeactionseattle.com

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 8:28 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Joe Olson

Mon 3/11/2024 10:26 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development

(tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,

Joe Olson

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 9:41 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Stewardship Plan: no clear-cutting, no greenwashing!

Assaf Oron

Tue 3/12/2024 9:30 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: Tree Action Seattle ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially "develop" (i.e., raze) the forests it owns, and to stop acquiring forested land for "development"

(tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to "develop" this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts a stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you,
Assaf Oron
Seattle voter

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:36 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Anne Roda

Tue 3/12/2024 4:31 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Anne Roda
Seattle resident
Sent from my iPad

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 3:52 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

ARCELIA RODRIGUEZ

Tue 3/12/2024 12:24 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:52 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Moani Russell

Tue 3/12/2024 8:05 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 3:48 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Linnea Scott

Tue 3/12/2024 9:49 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

I am writing you as a lifelong Seattle resident and the mother of a 2-year-old daughter.

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sincerely,

Linnea Scott

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/13/24, 2:36 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment: Land Stewardship Plan

Leah Scott-Zechlin

Tue 3/12/2024 4:21 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ; Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

I am deeply disturbed by the Port's disregard for climate change and the right of all communities to green space.

I ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Leah Scott-Zechlin

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:45 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Ashley Cohen-Lewe

Tue 3/12/2024 3:54 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Ashley Shain

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:27 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Julia Shettler

Mon 3/11/2024 10:18 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:50 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Paula Sjunneson

Tue 3/12/2024 7:45 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you,

Paula

Skickat från min iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public->

records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO... 1/1

3/13/24, 2:52 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Daniel Smith

Tue 3/12/2024 11:39 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-
Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO... 1/1

3/12/24, 3:51 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Cody Stetzel

Tue 3/12/2024 12:09 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-
Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Rise and cry,
Cody Stetzel

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 9:40 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Andy Stewart

Tue 3/12/2024 9:17 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Commissioners, Fred and Ryan in particular,
I'm rather concerned and disappointed the Port is still pursuing this plan to destroy so much forest in an already impacted area. I typically look to the port as a leader in sustainability and environmental stewardship. Is there anything you are doing to course correct here?

Thanks,
Andy

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Sent from my iPhone

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 2:54 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Marcy Stone-Francois

Wed 3/13/2024 5:45 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

- Marcy Stone-Francois

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

[Link]

<http://tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark>

3/12/24, 3:48 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Carina Swain

Tue 3/12/2024 10:05 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-

Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:52 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Erin Tenney

Tue 3/12/2024 8:23 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-

Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 8:58 AM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Megan Tully

Mon 3/11/2024 11:41 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;

Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-

Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/13/24, 3:00 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Drake Urness

Wed 3/13/2024 2:34 PM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Cheers,

Drake W. Urness

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 3:49 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

John Valett

Tue 3/12/2024 10:15 AM

To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-Records

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

Payne, Aubree

From: Lb Webster

Sent: Monday, March 11, 2024 10:41 PM

To: calkins.r@portseattle.org; Cho.s@portseattle.org; felleman.f@portseattle.org; Hasegawa.t@portseattle.org; Mohamed.h@portseattle.org; commission-public-records@portseattle.org

Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

Subject: [EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan

Dear Commissioners,

The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).

Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.

North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Thank you,

Lassie Webster

1

3/13/24, 2:59 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook

[EXTERNAL] Important Comments on Land Stewardship Plan

stevi.exit@gmail.com
Wed 3/13/2024 7:48 AM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-
Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I strongly support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).
Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.
North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.
KC Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.
This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.
Thank you,
S. Whipple

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTtk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1

3/12/24, 3:52 PM Mail - Commission-Public-Records - Outlook
[EXTERNAL] Comment on Land Stewardship Plan
hera won
Tue 3/12/2024 12:41 PM
To: Calkins, Ryan ; Cho, Sam ; Felleman, Fred ;
Hasegawa, Toshiko ; Mohamed, Hamdi ; Commission-Public-
Records
Cc: info@treeactionseattle.com ; info@defendersofhighlineforest.org

WARNING: External email. Links or attachments may be unsafe.

Dear Commissioners,
I live by SeaTac park. The summers grow hotter and become unbearable in this area. Without the trees we have been left with, it will become unlivable.
I vote, own property and pay property taxes here.
And I really don't have time to join a protest and cuff myself to a tree, but I will.
The Land Stewardship Plan's greenwashing cannot hide the catastrophic environmental and health impacts inherent in a plan to pave over cooling, air-purifying forests that protect polluted frontline communities. I support the Defenders of Highline Forest and ask the Port to withdraw its plans to industrially develop the forests it owns and stop acquiring forested land for development (tinyurl.com/defendHighlinePark).
Riverton Heights (27 acres): Clearcutting this forest for two huge cargo warehouses is an affront to this community which recently lost 100 acres of forest for a jail, parking lots and cargo space.
North SeaTac Park (110 acres): Plans to develop this forest are moving ahead, including the removal of 17-acre Tub Lake Bog buffer forest. This forest protects one of the last peat bogs in King County and an important aquifer recharge resource for the region. The Port has a history of destroying wetlands and this does not appear to have changed.

-PLEASE DO NOT DO THISKC

Public Health confirmed people in airport communities live shorter, sicker lives. Negative health impacts stretch for ten miles in a direct correlation with proximity to SeaTac. The report recommends expanding trees near SeaTac.

This plan must be revised to protect these forests and those near them.

Please help the people in the communities that live here, like me.

<https://outlook.office365.com/mail/commission-public-records@portseattle.org/inbox/id/AAQkAGE1YmYzYTk0LWE2N2YtNGZmYi05YjgxLTE5MDVjO...> 1/1